Dedicated to advancing scholarly and public understanding of the past, present, and future of western North America, the Bill Lane Center for the American West supports research, teaching, and reporting about western land and life in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

We have several openings for the paid summer undergraduate research intern positions. Either full time (10 weeks, 40 hours/week) or part-time are welcome.

Some of our projects include:

- Expansion of broadband in the American West, especially in rural and minority areas
- COVID-19 and the use of telemedicine
- Wildfire policies and politics
- Public land management and policies
- Public opinion about environmental issues and adaptation strategies

Eligibility

- Currently enrolled undergraduate students
- Must enroll in the Fall quarter 2020 (i.e. graduating seniors are not eligible)
- Full-time intern cannot hold additional appointment(s)

Required Qualities:

- Attention to details
- Intellectual curiosity
- Self-starter
- Reliable

Desired Skills:

- Data management and visualization using R
- Geographic Information System (GIS) skills

If you are interested in applying, send an email & briefly introduce yourself, resume and transcript to Iris Hui <irishui@stanford.edu>